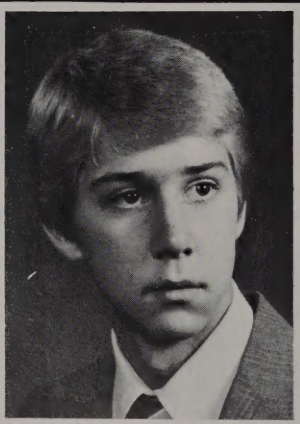
TANTASQUA SCHOLARS

Anne-Marie Cooney



Gary Ropiak

Once again it is time for us to honor those TANTASQUA students who have excelled academically. As was the case last year we have endeavored to choose two students, a boy and a girl, who are to serve as representatives for all the TANTASQUA scholars. But unlike last year our decision was complicated by the fact that we have a three way tie for the male lead. The resolution of this happy dilemma was a most rewarding experience. It is not often that three outstanding students complete their high school studies in a dead-heat for first in their class, but that is the case this year.

In addition to this remarkable phenomona the remaining students who have achieved scholastically this year are a truly outstanding group of young people. Many of them have had early acceptance at various prestigious colleges and universities and many others have applied and, in all probability, will be accepted at still others.

It is the purpose of these few words to convey our feelings of admiration and respect for the sustained performance of these individuals. It should also be noted here that in identifying those people specifically, we are in effect honoring all of our scholars. As it is virtually impossible to identify and eulogize each of these scholars, we have chosen the above to symbolize for all, the dedication and hard work that have gone into their success. We also wish to reiterate that there are still people who consider that the primary purpose of the high school experience is education, and that there is in that select group those who excell in this experience. It is to all these people that this page is dedicated. We here do acknowledge their achievements and honor their steadfast pursuit of excellence. Congratulations and a job well done.

Yesterday

Yesterday all my troubles seemed so far away
Now it looks as though they're here to stay
Oh I believe in yesterday

Suddenly I'm not half the man I used to be
There's a shadow hanging over me
Oh yesterday came suddenly

Why she had to go I don't know
She wouldn't say
I said something wrong now I long for yesterday

Yesterday love was such an easy game to play
Now I need a place to hide away
Oh I believe in yesterday

Why she had to go I don't know
She wouldn't say
I said something wrong now I long for yesterday

Yesterday love was such an easy game to play
Now I need a place to hide away
Oh I believe in yesterday

The Road Goodbye

The road I took was named "goodbye."
The path looked strange. I wondered why.
It left familiar things behind.
A hand caught mine . . . I paid no mind.

The stranger never once did say
Just what had brought him on my way.
On we went, and some afraid.
I wished I hadn't come, but stayed.

All the friends that I once knew
Took a road named "goodbye" too.
There were no two roads just the same.
Though all were called "goodbye" by name.

But in my heart was still a fear,
And in my eye a shining tear;
Yet on my face there was a smile,
And we walked forward for a while.

I walked along the road "goodbye."
I looked back once . . . I heaved a sigh.
Then I remembered at my side
My silent, but constant guide.

The stranger's hand I felt in mine
I looked into his face this time.
I asked his name — he turned just so,
He smiled and said, "I'm called 'Hello.' "

The road went on; we went on too,
And I was sad, for then I knew
That never would I be the same
having walked down "goodbye" lane.

I thought of games I'd lost and won,
I thought of all the things I'd done,
I thought of those I'd loved and cared,
Of times we'd had, of things we'd shared.

I thought of those I'd come to know,
Just knowing them — they'd helped me so.
I thought of things, Of tears I'd shed,
Those same things now brought smiles instead.

The tasks I'd done, those left to do,
I wondered how I'd make it through
When something inside me seems to say,
"The best you can from day to day."

I thought of all the happy days,
The sad ones now just seemed a haze,
And in a flash I came to see
How much the past had meant to me.

We walked along — I wondered where
The future led and what was there.
The past still echoed from behind
I was its, and it was mine.
